SYLLABUS
SWEDISH CRIME FICTION

The purpose of the course is to provide students with a basic knowledge of the tradition of Swedish crime fiction and to stimulate interest and critical reflection in this subject. The genre has been very successful worldwide in the 2000s, and this course provides an overview of this success story. A selection of acclaimed Swedish crime novels is the main material of the course, but the students will also get acquainted with famous film adaptations in the genre as well as critical analyses of important works and discussions of the genre in the book market.

The course takes its starting point in the influential author duo Maj Sjöwall & Per Wahlöö, creators of emblematic character Martin Beck. The works of Sjöwall & Wahlöö can be seen as the incitement to the way many Swedish authors use crime fiction as a genre where societal problems and political issues can be highlighted. The genre Swedish crime fiction will be discussed from several points of view, but special attention will be directed towards the relations of literature to society (e.g. issues concerning class, gender, and how Sweden as a nation is (re)presented in these texts).

Class requirements
This is a discussion-based course. Therefore, your regular attendance is required, and your active participation is expected. All classes (except the excursion) take place in room A975a. One absence is permitted; each subsequent absence will lower your overall participation grade by one step (A becomes A-, etc.). Please complete all readings by the date noted in the syllabus, and come to class prepared to engage fully with the materials. You are more than welcome to bring in additional materials of interest to the class.

Grades are based upon your active attendance and participation in class, on a midterm paper handed out after the first five classes, and on a final essay at the end of the course. (More detailed guidelines for the essays will be distributed during the course.) If essays are handed in too late, this will have a negative effect on the grading.
