

THE SWEDISH PROGRAM

Liberal Arts / Stockholm School of Economics

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

Hej Alums-- This fall, The Swedish Program turned 35! We are grateful that you chose our Program and trust that you look back on your international experience with the fondest of memories.

Wishing you the very best for 2023 and beyond!

Reconnecting with Alumni in 2022

Philip Musey (Harvard) spent his fall semester in Stockholm in 2015. He has since founded Light Mile Media. Philip, pictured here interviewing Ken, returned to Stockholm in November and captured the daily lives of three Swedish Program students. The footage will be released as a short documentary in 2023.

Jason Hoch (Williams) studied with us during his fall 1993 and spring 1994 semesters. When Jason returned to Stockholm this September, he caught up with Program staff and met our current Williams students.

Clare McLeod (Cornell) and Chip Daley (Penn), spring 2019 alumni, spent time with us on a sunny afternoon in June. They chronicled their return to Sweden in this blog post.

SSE-Swedish Program Scholarship

The Swedish Program and the Stockholm School of Economics are proud to offer a two-year full tuition scholarship for Swedish Program alumni pursuing an MSc degree at SSE. The next scholarship will be awarded to a Program alum for a program beginning in Fall 2023. Learn more about returning to Sweden for your graduate studies on our website.

Skål! The Swedish Program Turns 35

To the Many Faces and Places Over the Years

In Support of The Swedish Program

Thank you to the many alum that have made contributions over the last few years. We are sincerely grateful for your support and for standing behind our mission of promoting the values of global citizenship.

No matter how big or small, a contribution helps us ensure we continue offering students meaningful intercultural experiences.

Please consider making a tax-deductible donation this holiday season. Contributions can be submitted online here. We will then send you a letter acknowledging your gift for tax purposes.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and support of The Swedish Program!
